Head Master

The Royal Military College of Canada

THERE are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government Institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to cadets and officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact, it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial Army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

Whilst the College is organized on a strictly military basis, the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and in addition, the constant practice of gymnastics, drill and outdoor exercises of all kinds secures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial Service and Canadian Permanent Force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered by the authorities conducting the examination for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years, in three terms of 9½ months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extras, is about $800.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College takes place in May of each year, at the headquarters of the several military districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Military Council, Ottawa, Ont.; or to the Commandant, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

Synopsis of Canadian North-West Land Regulations

Any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price, $3.00 per acre.

Duties.—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre.

Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

February, 1912.

PREVIOUS WORKS AND PUBLICATIONS OF DR. HENRY J. MORGAN.

Dr. Morgan is a native of Canada; was educated at Morrin College, Quebec; entered the Canadian public service, 1853; was called to the Bar (Quebec and Ontario), 1873; is a corresponding member of the Historical Societies of Quebec, Buffalo, Manitoba and New York, of the Society of Historical Studies, Montreal, and of the American Geographical Society, a Fellow of the Royal Society of Northern Antiquaries of Denmark, and an Honorary Fellow of the Royal Colonial Institute of England; was granted the hon. degree of M.A. by Amherst College, Massachusetts, 1881, the hon. degree of LL.D. by the University of Ottawa (Roman Catholic), 1903, and that of D.C.L. by the University of King's College, Nova Scotia (Church of England), 1905; was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, 1904, and a member of the Authors' Club, London, England, in 1910.

1. "Tour of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales through Canada and the United States" (Quebec, 1860).
2. "Sketches of Celebrated Canadians and persons connected with Canada" (Quebec, 1862).
3. "Buchanan on the Industrial Politics of America" (Montreal, 1864).
4. "Speeches and Addresses of Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee in favour of British American Union," edited (London, 1865).
5. "The place British Americans have won in History"—a Lecture (Ottawa, 1865).
6. "The Bibliotheca Canadensis; or, A Manual of Canadian Literature" (Ottawa, 1867).
7. "The Canadian Legal Directory: A Guide to the Bench and Bar of the Dominion" (Toronto, 1878).
8. "Canadian Men and Women of the Time" (Toronto, 1898).
9. "Types of Canadian Women, Past and Present" (Toronto, 1903).
10. "Canadian Life in Town and Country" (together with Mr. L. J. Burpee, F.R.S.C., London, 1905); besides various brochures and newspaper and magazine articles upon a variety of subjects.

In 1862 Dr. Morgan established "The Canadian Parliamentary Companion," which he edited and published annually up to 1876; and, in 1878, "The Dominion Annual Register and Review," which he likewise edited and published, annually, up to 1887.

"More general contributions to history are the works of the Abbé Faillon, of Mr. Parkman, of Dr. Scadding, of the Abbé Laverdière, of Sir J. M. Le Moine, of Judge Haliburton, of Mr. Fennings Taylor, of Dr. Miles, of the Abbé Casgrain, of Col. Gray, of Mr. Louis Turcotte, of Mr. Charles Lindsey, of Dr. George Stewart, and of Dr. H. J. Morgan. We might add very largely to this list, which serves rather to show the variety of ways in which historical talent may be advantageously occupied than to sum up what has been accomplished. Of all these writers there is none who is more deserving of the gratitude of his fellow-citizens than the last-mentioned. Hardly a day passes, indeed, in which we, as journalists, do not refer for information to some of Dr. Morgan's various stores of information, and rarely do we refer to them in vain."—Montreal Gazette.

"A man of industry and skill, who has placed the hundreds of thousands of Canadians on this side of the boundary line, as well as all searchers for information as to the careers of eminent Canadians, under an immense weight of obligation."—Self Culture.

"More frequently quoted or utilized by the Canadian press than any other work."—E. R. Parkhurst.

"No other man living could have so well prepared such a volume as the author, who has long enjoyed pre-eminence as an authority on Canadian affairs."—Colonies and India.

"If Dr. Morgan had never discharged any other service for his fellow-countrymen than the preparation of this great work of biography, he would have been entitled to no slight share of their gratitude."—Toronto Globe.

"Dr. Morgan is our Vapereau and our Sidney Lee. His 'Men and Women of the Time' is a work of remarkable labor, erudition and research. It is a joy to read his pages, so free from the slightest prejudice, showing in every line an openness of mind, a sincerity and an elevation of view which put fanaticism to shame."—La Presse.

"A serviceable book of reference both in England and Canada. The author, Dr. H. J. Morgan, has long been known as an experienced and capable chronicler of lives and events, and probably no man in the Dominion has done more than he has in the departments of biography and bibliography. His 'Celebrated Canadians' appeared more than a quarter of a century ago."—Literature (London).

"We all think it is high time that some substantial acknowledgment were made to Dr. Morgan for the eminent services he is rendering to the Dominion."—Col. S. B. Steele, C.B., Winnipeg.

"A veteran writer whose pen has for more than half a century maintained the perpetuation and strengthening of Imperial ties as the only loyal, wise and sane course for all concerned."—Dr. John Reade, Montreal.

PREFACE.

THE first edition of "Canadian Men and Women of the Time" appeared in 1898. It comprised a volume of 1,118 pages, royal octavo, and included, approximately, 2,891 sketches of living characters. Of these over 900, or almost 33 per cent., have since died.

The volume met with a warm reception and was more than ordinarily successful. Its circulation was large, and extended to the remotest corners of the world. It was and is to be found in all the principal public libraries of Europe, Asia and America, as well as in a great many private collections. It was largely used by the newspaper press, mostly, however, without acknowledgment, a species of plagiarism into which a portion of the Fourth Estate seems to have fallen, in the present day, without any apparent sense of shame.

Various works, modelled upon the same lines as the present one, have since been started in Canada, but none of them have answered the public expectation—hence a demand has arisen for a second edition of "Canadian Men and Women of the Time," to meet which the present volume has been prepared. Like its predecessor, the Editor trusts that it may be found accurate, trustworthy, and up-to-date. It is certainly as complete, as regards the number of characters represented, as well as the facts and information touching them, as circumstances have permitted. If any name of importance has been omitted, the fault, upon examination, will be found not to rest with the Editor, but with someone more directly concerned.

The volume now submitted will be found to contain a greater number of names than the previous one, some 7,900 sketches being included within its folds. Of these some have died while the book was being published, but any such occurrences, with other unforeseen changes, will be found to be duly recorded in their proper place.

A second volume, embracing portraits of the persons represented herein, will appear just as soon as all the portraits have been collected for the purpose.

The Editor has been indebted to many persons for various courtesies and other assistance received during the preparation of the book. A list of these ladies and gentlemen is subjoined, and to one and all he tenders his hearty thanks. His acknowledgments are especially due to his younger son, Mr. Hamilton Richards Morgan, who, throughout, has been of material assistance in revising the proof sheets and otherwise rendering important service.

The full list of those to whom we have been indebted is as follows, the names being given in alphabetical order:

Adam, Graeme Mercer, author.

S. late Jas. and Margt. (Wishart) A., Lasswade, Midlothian, Scot.; b. Loanhead, Scot., May 25, 1839; e. Edinburgh; cradled among books; at 19 was at the head of the retail branch of one of the oldest Scottish publishing houses; in 1858 came to Can. as mangr. of the Can. book-house of Rev. Dr. Cunningham Geikie, and, 2 yrs. afterwards, succeeded to the business, in partnership with Mr. Rollo, the firm afterwards being re-formed and known as Adam, Stevenson & Co., booksellers and publishers, Toronto, which continued in existence for many yrs.; in 1876, in alliance with late John Lovell, Montreal, opened a publishing house in N. Y. as an outlet for literature manufactured by Mr. L.'s sons, at Rouse's Point, a venture which, although not barren of results, was not immediately successful: it subsequently developed into the U. S. Book Co.; returning to Toronto, 1878, endd. on an active literary career; his firm had previously published the Brit. Am. Mag., to which he had contributed reviews of books; and from 1869 to 1872 he had written almost the whole of each number of the Can. Bookseller, an organ of the book and publishing interests of Can.; in 1872, in co-operation with Prof. Goldwin Smith and others, he founded the Can. Monthly, of which he was sole ed. from 1879 to its decease, 1883; in 1879 he also founded the Can. Educational Monthly, of which he was ed. for over 5 yrs.; was likewise for several yrs. office ed. and business mangr. of The Bystander, and, in connection with this duty, served as secy. and literary asst. to Prof. Goldwin Smith; when the Week was started he became one of its staff of writers, contributing also to the Nation, the Globe, the Mail, and other journals published then and subsequently at Toronto; he found time, as well, for other forms of authorship; in 1883 he ed. a series of sch. reading books, in 5 volumes, known as "The Royal Can. Readers"; subsequently he ed. an edition of Macaulay's "Essay on Warren Hastings," and published, in association with J. W. Connor, the "Can. High Sch. Word Book" and, in association with W. J. Robertson (q.v.), a "Sch. History of Eng. and Can."; in 1885 he published "The Can. North-West; Its History and Its Troubles," and, in 1886, in conjunction with Miss Wetherald (q.v.), an historical romance entitled "An Algonquin Maiden"; among other works from his pen have been: "An Outline History of Can. Literature"; a volume summarizing the work in Equatorial Africa of Sir H. M. Stanley; a series of books of a topographical and descriptive character on Can.; "Can. from Sea to Sea," a tourist's handbook; "Toronto Old and New"; a revised ed. of Collins' "Life of Sir John Macdonald"; a "Hand-book on Commercial Union," and, in conjunction with the late Geo. Dickson, a "History of Upper Can. College"; was also a contributor to "Picturesque Can.," ed. by the late Principal Grant; on leaving for the U. S., 1892, was presented with an address and purse by Can. literary men and publishers, in recognition of his important work; becoming a resident of N. Y., he remained there for 4 yrs., being chiefly connected with the U. S. Book Co. as reader and literary adviser; otherwise he performed a large share of labour, not only as a reviewer, memoir writer and general contributor in mags. and critical journals, but in the way of compilations and original authorship; in 1896 he removed to Chicago to become ed. of Self-Culture, a new mag., which he subsequently accompanied to Akron, O., on its removal thither; after 6 yrs., having edited 9 vols. of the periodical, his connection with it ceased on a change of publishers, and he again took up his residence in N. B. Winfield, Ont., Feb. 15, 1866; a Norseman by descent; m., Feb., 1906, Miss Madonna Niles; studied art under Wm. Chase, Edwin Elwell and Geo. Inness, of N. Y.; one of his pictures, "The Day is Done," received much favourable notice at an exhn. of the Ont. Soc. of Artists, 1890; another, "The Fisherman's Child," was given the place of honour in the Biennial Exhn. of the Royal Can. Acad., 1893; and still another, "Ripe Corn Time," was purchased by the Ont. Govt. to hang in the Parl. Buildings, Toronto, 1896; afterwards attracted the attention of Elbert Hubbard, who was greatly impressed by his originality in atmospheric effects, and persuaded him to throw in his lot with the Roycroft community at East Aurora, N. Y.; separating from them spent 3 yrs. painting the ruins of the old Spanish missions in Southern Cal.; returned to Can., Sept., 1907; among the best known of his works, in addition to those above mentioned, are "Cradled in the Net" (shown at the Chicago World's Fair), "The House in the Clearing," "Gleam in the Woodlands," "The Woodcutters," "The Glow in the Woodland," "Passing Showers," and "The Coming Storm"; is also a writer of short stories for the periodical press.—175 St. Helen Ave., Toronto.

"His distinguishing traits are his feeling for colour and his handling of the problems of light and air. His composition is always simple and effective; his sense of unity and harmony is never-failing; and his values are well understood. Many of his paintings, like Whistler's, are experiments in elusive lights and forms and colours, for he is akin in spirit to that wizard, who studied the outdoor world with unflinching love, and yet felt that 'to take nature as she is, is like telling the player to sit on the piano.' There are suggestions in his earlier work of Millet; often he recalls to you the solidity of Rousseau, the air-filled skies of Constable, the mystery of Corot. There is, however, no real resemblance to any other than himself; his style is an amalgam absolutely his own."—Brush and Pencil, Chicago.

Allan, Miss Maud, dancer.

B. Toronto; at 4 yrs. of age removed to San Francisco, where her father became a naturalized Am. citizen; took a scholarship at the Cogswell Poly. Coll., San Francisco; commenced studying the piano at age of 5, and made her first appearance as a pianist at 12; soon afterwards went to Europe to continue her studies; spent 5 yrs. at the Berlin Royal Acad. High Sch. of Music, and took the highest diploma for piano-playing; later, abandoned her intention of becoming a professional musician, deciding to become a dancer instead, her idea being to represent music by dancing; after much fresh study, she made her first appearance as a dancer before an invited audience at the Conserv. of Music, Vienna, in 1902; she was highly complimented by the press; her first public appearance took place at the Theatre Molière, Brussels, and she subsequently performed at Berlin, Buda Pesth, Hamburg and Paris, at all of which places she aroused much enthusiasm; at London, where she appeared in "The Vision of Salome," early in 1908, she became the rage, and had the honour of dancing before the late King and the present Queen Mother (q.v.); subsequently she successfully appeared in N. Y.; has written and published her life; "is proud to claim Can. as her country."—Care Canadian Office, London, Eng.

"As Salome she has brought pose dancing to perfection. Her costume gives a luxurious impression of Oriental gorgeousness. Her figure is as symmetrical as Canova's Venus. Above her slender waist it seems to be unconcealed except for jewelled trappings. Her feet, which are not too small but finely modelled, are bare and she gets expression even into her pink toes. She impresses her spectators by the power of her representation and by the varied intensities of her facile expression, and, best of all, she does not appeal to the baser passions."—N. Y. World.

Beardsley, Major John Davis, Am. ry. service.

U. E. L. descent; great-great-grands. Rev. John D. (Epis.), apptd. chaplain Loyal Am. Regt., commanded by Col. Beverley Robinson, during Am. Revolutionary War, and at the peace retired on half-pay, settling in N. B., where he d. 1810; his s., John D. B., settled at Woodstock, N.B., and d. there, 1852; b. Woodstock, N.B., Jan. 1, 1837; lived there until he was 13 or 14, when his family removed to Grand Falls, in that province; there he engd. in mercantile and lumbering business; was likewise a capt. in the local militia; an unsuccessful candidate for Victoria (N.B. Assembly), 1861, and became a Freemason; at the outbreak of the Am. Civil War, 1861, was the owner of a large manufacturing lumber mill, on the St. John River, employing nearly 200 men; inspired by a spirit of adventure, he left his business with his partner, and followed by 70 of his men, crossed the boundary line and enlisted in the Maine (U. S.) Volunteers, being joined after doing so by Geo. W. West, of Fort Kent, with 30 men; these men were organized at Portland as Co. D. of the Tenth Maine Volunteers and mustered into the service of the U. S., West being apptd. capt. and B. first lieu, thereof; the regt. going south, was first stationed at Patterson Park, Baltimore; the headquarters were then moved to Fort Dix, on the Baltimore & Ohio Ry., and the regt. was employed to guard the railroad from Baltimore to Harper's Ferry; later the headquarters were moved to Harper's Ferry; June 23, 1862, the regt. was moved to Winchester, Va., and on June 25 it participated in the Battle of Winchester, in which the federal forces under Gen. Banks were defeated by the Confederates, under Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson; the 10th Maine Regt. covered the federal retreat, passing through Winchester about 10 a.m., and were under artillery fire constantly from that time until they arrived at Martinsburg, a distance of 22 miles; the retreat was continued to the Potomac River that afternoon, making a march of 42 miles, the regt. losing during the day about 90 men from artillery in killed, wounded, and prisoners; the army returned to Virginia almost immediately, and was moved up the Shenandoah Valley, and by way of Front Royal to Culpepper, Va., where Gen. Banks established his headquarters, B. being with his regt. throughout; Aug. 8, 1862, Banks moved his centre south from Culpepper to Cedar Mountain, the 10th Maine being in advance; on the following day the regt. participated in one of the most desperate and bloody battles of the war, the numbers engaged being considered; during the early part of the day it was an artillery fight, with small loss on either side; about 4 in the afternoon the 10th Maine became engaged with the Confederate infantry; the conflict was short, not more than 20 minutes, yet in that time Co. D., commanded by Capt. B., lost 10 men shot dead and 22 wounded, out of a total of 45; on the evening of Aug. 9, B. was taken prisoner, on the picket line, and was sent to Richmond, where he was confined a prisoner of war in Libby prison; after 3 months he was exchanged and sent to Camp Parole, Annapolis, Md.; he joined his regt. as it was crossing the Potomac River, near Harper's Ferry; in the early part of 1863, Co. D., with two other co.'s of the 10th Maine, having been formed into a batt. and attached to the headquarters of the 10th Army Corps, under Genl. Slocum, B., as senior offr. of the batt., commanded it at headquarters; was present with it at Chancellorsville, May 1, 2, and 3, and at the Battle of Gettysburg, July 2, 3, and 4, 1863; in the fall of that year went with his corps to Tenn., to reinforce Rosencranz, who had been defeated at Chickamauga and driven into Chattanooga by Genl. Bragg; during the winter of 1863-4 B. commanded his batt. at Shelbyville, Tenn.; from this point his command was transferred to the 29th Maine, then serving in the 19th Corps (Emery's), joining it at Morganza, La., Mississippi River; soon afterwards they were moved to New Orleans, and were sent by sea, under sealed orders, ultimately to Fortress Monroe, to reinforce Grant's army of the Potomac; on reaching there, however, their destination was changed to Washington, where they landed, within hearing of the Confederate guns under Early, on the other side of the city; having marched across the city they joined the forces close in under the walls; Early's troops fell back and finally retreated up the Potomac River and south through the Shenandoah Valley; B.'s corps then passed under Genl. Sheridan's command, and took part in the Valley campaign under that commander, which finally resulted in the entire destruction of Early's army; promoted major in the 109th Regt. Infantry, U.S.C. troops, he was mustered into the service of the U. S. as such Sept. 23, 1864; ordered from its location in Ky. to the army of the Potomac, it took position on the north side of the James River, in front of Confederate Fort Harrison, and participated in the siege of Richmond; Mch., 1865, B., having conceived the idea of raising a regt. of sharpshooters, to be armed with Spencer rifles, then coming into use, and being strongly supported in his application to the War Office by Genl. Slocum, then commanding the left wing of Howard's army, tendered his resignation and was honourably discharged from the army, in order that he might be free to carry out his intention, but before he could give effect to it, Grant broke the Confederate lines at Petersburg, and the collapse of the Confederacy followed; Apl., 1897, was apptd. by Gov. J. R. Bodwell of Maine a commr. for purchasing and improving land and erecting monuments thereon, in commemoration of the soldiers from Maine who fell at Gettysburg; after the war B. went into business at Richmond, Va., where he continued until 1873, removing thence to Cairo, W. Va., where he purchased a large tract of timber land; in 1878 he went to Arkansas, where he built a narrow-gauge railroad from Hope to Washington, Ark.; in 1882 he changed the gauge of this road and extended it to Nashville, a distance of about 25½ miles; it is known as the Arkansas & Louisiana Railroad; in 1886 he sold the road to Jay Gould and, in 1887, began the construction of another railroad from Magnolia, Ark., to Natchitoches, La., a distance of 115 miles; this road, known as the Louisiana and Northwest Railroad, he sold to a St. Louis syndicate, in 1905; following this, he built an electric system, comprising a street railroad of 6½ miles, a light and power plant, an ice plant, and an amusement park, at Mineral Wells, Texas, which he still owns; m. Blake, Hon. Edward, lawyer; statesman.

E. s. late Hon. William Hume B., Chancellor of U.C., now Ont., and Catherine Hume B., grandd. Wm. Hume of Humewood, M.P. for Wicklow in the Brit. House of Commons, and grands. Rev. Dominick Edward B. (of the family of B. of Castlegrove, Galway), in his lifetime rector of Kiltegan and of Lough Brickland, and R. D.; b. present village of Cairngorm, Ont., Oct. 13, 1833; e. U. C. Coll. (Gov.-Genl.'s prizeman), and Univ. of Toronto (B.A., and silver med. in classics, 1854; M.A., 1858; LL.D., 1889; barrister, 1856; successfully practised in Toronto, principally in partnership with his bro., Hon. S. H. B. (q.v.), being head of his firm and long one of the leaders of the Can. bar; retired from the firm, 1901; K.C. (Viscount Monck), 1864; a bencher of the Law Soc., U.C., 1871; treas. of do., 1879; was for a time one of the examiners in, and a lecturer on, equity law for the Law Soc.; apptd. an hon. mem. of the law faculty, Toronto Univ., 1888; declined appt. as chancellor of U.C., under the govt. of Sir John Macdonald, 1869; as chief justice of Can., under the govt. of Mr. Mackenzie, 1875; and as chief justice of Ont., under that of Sir W. Laurier, 1897; appeared frequently before the Jl. Comte. of the P.C. in Eng., his services being retained in many cases taken there from the Dom.; was chief counsel for the appellants in the Man. Sch. case before that tribunal, 1895; was chief counsel for the Dom. in the dispute between the Provinces and the Dom. over the reduction in the representation of the old Provinces, except Quebec, after the previous census, 1904; was also the chief counsel in the Alaska Boundary case, but had to throw up his brief on account of sudden illness; his political career began in 1867, the epoch of Confederation; early espoused the Lib. cause, and was often importuned to enter Parlt.; in the year mentioned was elected both to the Ho. of Commons and the Legislature; was immediately offered the leadership of his party in the latter body, but it was not till 1869 that he consented to accept that position; on the defeat of the Sandfield Macdonald govt., Dec., 1871 (an event largely due to his efforts), was called upon to form a new Admn., and succeeded in the task; he himself took the office of Presdt. of the Council without salary; on the abolishment of dual representation, some time later, resigned the Premiership with the view of devoting the whole of his attention to Federal politics; in the H.C. he was urged to accept the leadership, but declined the honour; was, nevertheless, one of the greatest champions in the well-remembered contest over the Pacific Scandal, which resulted in the downfall of Sir John A. Macdonald; when Mr. Mackenzie became Prime Minister of Can., accepted a position in his cabinet, without office; was sworn of the Privy Council, Nov. 7, 1873; in Feb., 1874, resigned owing to ill-health; in May, 1875, accepted office as Minr. of Justice, and while such undertook an official mission to Eng., touching amendments to the law of extradition, etc.; was mainly instrumental in perfecting the constitution of the Supreme Ct. of Can. at its establishment, and personally selected the judges first apptd. thereto; after the defeat of the Mackenzie Govt. at the polls, 1878, was chosen leader of the Lib. party in the H.C., in place of the ex-Premier, whose health had become impaired by his arduous official labours; remained in that position until after the g.e. of 1887, when he retired and was succeeded by Mr. (now Sir W.) Laurier; subsequent to that event took no prominent part either in the debates in the House, or in the general work of his party; at the g.e., 1890, declined renomination, and sent to his constituents in West Durham a letter expressing his views of the condition and prospects of the country; this letter was believed to be of the greatest importance, but it was not published until after the elections; when the letter was made public it created a genuine sensation, for it not only announced the great leader's retirement from political life, but expressed the gravest forebodings concerning the future of Can.; "The splendid oratory and brilliant genius of Mr. B.," says Mr. Adams (q.v.), from whose work of biography we have taken some of the facts herein, "were keenly missed in Parlt., and many were the hopes expressed that he would reconsider his determination, and return to his rightful place as leader of his party"; in June, 1892, these hopes were dispelled by his acceptance of an invitation extended to him by the leaders of the Irish parliamentary party to accept a seat in the Brit. H.C.; he landed in Irel. a few weeks previous to the election of 1892, and was received with great cordiality; he stood for the constituency of South Longford and was returned by a very large majority; his advent into Imp. politics was made under the most auspicious circumstances, and fully justified the fondest hopes of his friends; he continued to sit for South Longford while he remained a mem. of the Brit. Parlt., and did much to popularize the Irish cause throughout the Empire; was presented to Queen Victoria, Buckingham Palace, July, 1882, and again, subsequently; in 1894 he was elected a mem. of the Extn. Comte. of the Irish Parliamentary party; in the same year he was included in the Royal Comm., apptd. to enquire into the financial relations between Gt. Brit. and Irel.; this Comte. reported that Irel. was bearing an unfair share of taxation, and in 1897 he was selected to move an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech on the subject; later, he moved a substantive resolution thereon; in 1895 he went to New Zealand, to serve as arbitrator between the New Zealand Govt. and the New Zealand Midland Ry. Co., and made his award in Dec., wholly in favour of the Govt.; in 1896 he was one of the comte. of 15 of the H.C. appointed to investigate South African affairs and the causes of the Transvaal raid; his cross-examination of Cecil Rhodes has been spoken of as "a masterly piece of work"; he was very successful in obtaining funds for carrying on the work of the Irish Parliamentary party, and contributed himself largely thereto; to the election fund of the McCarthyite wing of the Nationalist party, 1895, his subscription was £1,000; was arbitrator for Nfd. in the Reid-Nfd. Govt. case, 1904-5; in the same year was elected chairman of Comtes. (H.C.); was the first (and for 14 yrs. continuously) presdt. of the Toronto Genl. Trusts Co.; on his resignation of the office, 1896, the other directors of the Co. presented the Ont. Legislature with his portrait in oils, "to mark their esteem for him and their appreciation of his services in some lasting way"; throughout his career, his interest in education—and especially higher education—has been most marked; he was elected Chancellor of the Univ. of Toronto, 1873; in 1888 he gave $2,500 to found scholarships in political science in that institution, and in 1891 he agreed to give $20,000 as a fund towards endowing junior matriculation scholarships therein; after the destruction of the buildings of the Univ. by fire, 1890, he gave largely to the rebuilding fund, and did much otherwise to assist in the work of restoration; he declined a K. C. M. G., for his public services, 1876; was a del. to the 3rd Commercial Congress, London, 1893, at a dinner given in his honour in Toronto, Feb., 1894, he called himself an "Irishman, and an Imperialist, not in a jingo sense, but an Imperialist in the fullest sense of the word, and with the belief that the destiny of the Brit. Empire is to occupy the foremost position as a civilizer and Christianizer throughout the whole world"; continuing, he said, "he looked forward to the granting of Home Rule to Irel. in the near future, and thereafter to seeing systems of local govt. established in all the great historical and natural divisions of Gt. Brit. with one Federal Parlt. in control"; his portrait, painted by Grier (q.v.), was exhibited at the Royal Acad., London, 1895; an Ang. of evangel. leanings; owing to continued ill-health he retired from the Imp. Parlt. and from all participation in political affairs, 1907.—"Homewood," Toronto; "Maison Rouge," Murray Bay, P.Q.; National Liberal Club, London, Eng.

"No poet, with the exception of Tennyson and Browning, has, during the latter half of this century, covered so wide a field and yet risen so high in each department, in sustained flight of song, as has this young writer. In subtle and weird imagination he has been likened to Poe; in lyrical flight and spontaneity, to Shelley; in depth and breadth, to Shakespeare and Browning; and, for intense personality he is considered unique among the younger writers of the day. In his poems is felt the presence of a strong personality, intensely interested in the perplexing problems of human existence. Even in his 'nature' verse, beneath all its pure music, there runs a deep undertone of haunting, mystical suggestiveness, which naturally links the restless phenomena of nature with the joys and sorrows of the human heart. As a dramatic poet he stands alone, supreme in his generation."—Scottish-American.

Dr. Crichton's Remedy

“GRIPPURA”

generally cures La Grippe (Influenza) or “colds” in a few hours, often in less than two hours. When other proper treatment is used along with it, it generally cures Pneumonia, Tonsillitis (Quinsy), Inflammatory Rheumatism, etc., in less than one-quarter of the usual time, Typhoid Fever in less than one-half of the usual time. It is harmless in the dose required, and any other medicine may be taken along with it.

Three of the Professors in Toronto University use it. James Colling, B.A., Principal of Cobourg (Ont.) Collegiate Institute, writes: “One dose cured me. I gave it to five other teachers and they all declare it broke up the attack of Grippe.” Rev. J. C. Berrie, President of Methodist Conference for New Brunswick and P. E. I. (who studied medicine for four years), says: “Grippura has worked just as you say. I consider it worth its weight in gold.”

Send for circular containing similar testimonials from J. Henderson, M.A., Principal of St. Catharines Collegiate Institute; Rev. W. Bowman Tucker, M.A., Ph.D., author of “The Camden Colony”; E. A. Hardy, B.A., Secretary of Librarians' Association for the Province of Ontario; Wm. F. Montague, Grand Recorder Canadian Order of Chosen Friends; Carl E. Fisher, County Registrar, St. Catharines, Ont., etc.

The Ontario Divisional High Court decided after a three days' hearing that Grippura is “an apparently valuable remedy,” and that “it does not appear to be put forward dishonestly or carelessly.”

Sent by mail, postpaid, price 75c. for 24 doses. To places where it is not for sale two such bottles will be sent for $1.00. Persons living in countries other than Canada and the United States should order three bottles (or multiples of three) at a time as postage is paid by the pound.

Address all letters to

"A man of fine literary attainments and high views of national life."—T. Globe.

"A man of sincere and enlightened views, excellent abilities, and who is thoroughly informed upon public questions."—T. News.

"As a writer has gained the highest distinction. Like Keats, he has an instinct for fine words. As Goldwin Smith is in English, so Mr. David, among French-Canadians, is the most exquisite writer of his generation. Perhaps the chief charm of his prose lies in its exceeding clarity, and clearness is the first quality in a French writer. There is no man in Canada today who can better propound a synthesis; that also is a luminous feature of his style. But for elegance and clearness he has among his compatriots achieved a position of unique pre-eminence."—M. Standard.

de Sola, Rev. Meldola (Jewish).

E. s. late Rev. A. de S., LL.D., in his lifetime one of the most scholarly exponents of orthodox Judaism in Am.; a bro. Clarence I de S. (q.v.); b. Montreal, May 22, 1853; c. under his father's direction; m. 1887. Katie (formerly V.-P. and treas., local branch Nat. Council of Women of Can.; presdt., local sec. Council of Jewish Women), d. Rev. I. Samuel, senior minr., Bayswater Synagogue, London, Eng.; followed commercial life for a few yrs.; his father's failing health re-directed his attention to the work of the ministry, and from 1876 to 1882 he officiated regularly as voluntary lay asst. to the Spanish and Portuguese synagogue, Montreal, the senior Jewish cong. there, and where his father had ministered for a lengthened period; on the latter's death, June, 1882, succeeded him and thus became the first Jewish minr. of Can. birth; he soon became the recognized leader of the orthodox majority of the community, and is now acknowledged to be one of the ablest and most uncompromising opponents of the so-called reform movement in North Am.; in 1885 a number of Am. reform minrs. held a convention at Pittsburg for the purpose of defining the principles of reformed Judaism; his sermon at that time led the ordinary press to denounce the reform platform as "Ingersollism with a vengeance"; has frequently preached in the U.S. and in Eng.; one of his sermons in N.Y. was subsequently published in pamphlet form and its copious notes and references were declared by the Jewish press in Eng. to be a valuable contribution to the history of Jewish reform in Am.; during one of his visits to Eng. was invited by Dr. Adler, chief rabbi of the united congregations of the Brit. Empire, to occupy his pulpit; the sermon then delivered created a most favourable impression; four yrs. later he received the greatest honour of his career, when Dr. Gaster, the erudite chief rabbi of the Sephardic Jews, invited him to preach in London at the Bevis Marks synagogue upon the occasion of the installation of a new minr.; this synagogue is the oldest and largest Jewish place of worship in Eng.; in his lifetime Sir Moses Montefiore acted as its presiding warden for many yrs.; it has been rendered famous by the eminent scholars and great orators who have served in its ministry, and its pulpit has been closed to all but men of the first rank and of proved devotion to the interests of orthodox Judaism; he was the first preacher not connected with the cong. who had been invited to preach at Bevis Marks within 10 yrs., and the circumstance was made the subject of editorial comment by the Jewish press of Eng. and the U.S.; his sermon received the eloquent praise of Dr. Gaster, and the wardens of the historic synagogue had it published in pamphlet form; in 1896, officiated at the laying of the cornerstone of the great Spanish and Portuguese synagogue, N.Y.; a year later offered the special prayer of dedication at the consecration of the building; the occasion was a notable one; the cong. was the oldest Jewish body in the U.S., and all the reform leaders in the dist. were present; undeterred by social amenities, he prayed that the cong. might be shielded from the baneful influences of the reform movement, and in the course of his prayer sternly arraigned the reform leaders; he was furiously attacked by the reform press from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but the authorities of the synagogue stood by him and the orthodox press proved that his statements, merciless as they had been, were incontrovertible truths; a bitter controversy ensued, and he emerged from it the acknowledged leader of the party of aggressive orthodoxy in Am.; it was mainly through his unceasing agitation that the first conf. of the representatives of orthodox Judaism ever held on this continent was convened in N.Y., 1898; the object of the convention was to neutralize the influence of the reform conferences; he was unanimously elected first V.-P., and was one of the 3 rabbis who drew up the declaration of principles governing the convention; at the public session of the conf. he made an impassioned appeal to the immense audience to remain true to its ancestral religion, and received a perfect ovation upon the conclusion of his address; one result of the conf. was the formation of the Union of Orthodox (Jewish) Congs. of the U.S. and Can.; is now first V.-P. of the Union and chairman of the comte. on Presentations of Judaism; in the latter capacity he recently issued the manifesto of the Union denouncing the reform rabbis for discussing the advisability of transferring the Jewish Sabbath to the first day of the week; is an ardent supporter of the Zionist movement, which seeks to secure for Jewish victims of religious persecution "a publicity, legally assured home" in Palestine; one of his published sermons upon Zionism elicited warm expressions of approval from Dr. Herzl, Max Nordau, Sir Francis Montefiore, and other leaders of the movement; has often been subjected to bitter attack, both in the U.S. and in Eng., but seems quite indifferent to his assailants; having a cause to plead, he pleads it apparently without fear or favor; he has received several calls to positions that would be more remunerative to him, but he has so far steadfastly refused to leave his father's old cong.; while he assumed his present position for the purpose of protecting the cong. against the inroads of radicalism, his pulpit work has been by no means confined to this one line of duty, and many of his sermons upon other subjects have been given to the public in separate form; nor have his synagogue labours been limited to the pulpit; an accomplished musician, he has instructed the cong. choir for more than a quarter of a century, and, under his guidance, the numerous responses are sung by the cong. and choir with impressive effect.—338 Sherbrooke St., Montreal; summer residence: St. Patricks, P.Q.

Mendocino, Cal.; did much of the reading in this connection upon horseback; on returning to Can. applied for mission work in Algoma, preferring this to older settlements; since then, has laboured in this work along educ. lines, fearing that the existing methods of the Ch. were inadequate; author "Library Extension in Ont.: Travelling Libraries and Reading Camps," and "The Education of the Frontier Labourer"; has lectured on "The Duty of the State to the Frontier Labourer," "Life on the Canadian Frontier," etc.; has been called "the Jacob Rills of the lumbering, mining, fishing and railway construction camps."—188 Jarvis St., Toronto.

"Beginning life as a missionary along the frontier of our industrial expansion, he had the eye to see that lumberers, miners and construction men needed something else than sermons. He discovered that they could never be effectively reached by the routine propaganda of the church. With increasing experience a sense of their bitter need grew upon him and stung him into the desire, and finally the resolve, to create some new agency to meet that need. Slowly a plan grew up in his mind, and when he became convinced of its practicability, he abandoned the preaching ministry for the no less real and more statesman-like ministry of Camp Education."—Rev. R. J. Hutcheon (q.v.).

Fleming, Sir Sandford, civil engineer; scientist; public man.

S. late Andrew Greig and Elizabeth (Arnot) F.; b. Kirkcaldy, Fifeshire, Scot., Jan. 7, 1827; e. there; LL.D. (hon.), St. Andrews Univ., 1884; do. (do.) Columbia Coll., N.Y., 1887; do. (do.) Toronto Univ., 1907; do. (do.) Queen's Univ., 1908; m., 1855, Ann Jean (d. Mch., 1888), d. late Mr. Sheriff Hall, Peterboro, Ont.; studied surveying and enging. in Scot.; came to Can., 1845; later, joined the enging. staff of the Northern Ry., Toronto, apptd. chief engr., do., 1857; subsequently practised his prof. in Ont., in partnership with Messrs. Ridout & Schreiber (q.v.), was later on elected a M.Inst.C.E., London, and a mem. of the Am. Soc. of C.E.; was elected an hon. mem. of the Can. Soc. C.E., 1908; in 1863, was chosen by the people of the Red River settlement (now included in the Province of Man.) to proceed to Eng. for the purpose of urging the Imp. authorities to open ry. communication between Red River and Eastern Can.; on his return from this mission, was apptd. by the govts. of Can., N.S. and N.B., in conjunction with H.M.'s govt., to conduct a survey for the first link in a ry. which would extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific within Brit. territory; of this road—the Intercolonial—he was chief engr. during its construction; meanwhile (1871) he had been apptd. engr.-in-chief to carry on the Pac. Ry. surveys; in 1872, he headed an expdn., whose results are embodied in the late Principal Grant's book, "Ocean to Ocean," which proceeded through the Rocky Mountains by the Yellowhead Pass; while engaged on the Intercol., and in the exploring operations between Ottawa and B.C. for the Pacific Ry., he carried on, at his own expense, an examination of Nfld., to ascertain the possibility of establishing a ry. service across that island; after the engr. employed by him had reported satisfactorily, he was gratefully thanked by the House of Assembly and charged by the local govt. to conduct a ry. survey from St. John's to St. George's Bay; the outcome is the road there since built and operated by the Messrs. Reid (q.v.); in 1880, owing to political exigencies, he retired from the service of the Dom. Govt.; at that date the transcontinental surveys had established the practicability of the Pacific Ry., and the means of overcoming the formidable barriers imposed by nature had been determined; construction of the work was being proceeded with at both ends and between Lake Superior and the heart of Man., in all ranging over some 2,000 miles, 600 miles were nearly completed; since then he has devoted himself to special branches of science and literature and in lending his assistance to the Govt. in an advs. capacity in various depts. of the public service; elected chancellor of Queen's Univ., 1880, and has been many times re-elected to that office, which he has now filled for more than 30 yrs.;

en passant, it may be said that he has given largely of his means to the furtherance of the Univ.'s needs; in return the Univ. has not been unmindful of his interest, and, in 1903, named the new enging. building, then erected, after him; when on a visit to Eng., 1883, was asked by cable to assist in the establishment of the Can. Pacific Ry. by its present route through the Rocky Mountains; he speedily returned to Can. and made another overland journey, an account of which was given to the people in "Old to New Westminster"; this was the first through journey made in advance of the rails being laid from ocean to ocean; among the subjects which have specially engaged his study and attention is that of universal or Cosmic time; the first steps in this regard were taken by him, 1878-79, in communicating to the Can. Inst., Toronto (of which body he was one of the founders), two papers, one on "Time Reckoning," and the other on the "Selection of a Prime Meridian to be Common to all Nations, in Connection with Time Reckoning"; the great object was stated to be to make Greenwich the standard for the whole world; the Council of the Can. Inst., in publishing a fasciculus on the subject in 1885, made honourable mention of his proposal, concluding in these words: "His efforts have contributed in no small degree to the adoption of an initial meridian common to all nations, and that he has unquestionably been the initiator and principal agent in the movement for reform in time-reckoning and in the establishment of the universal day; the Inst. cannot, perhaps, better express the debt of gratitude which the civilized world owes to him in this connection than by quoting from the accompanying paper from the pen of the distinguished Astronomer Royal of Russia, M. Otto Struve: 'It is,' writes M. Struve, 'through Mr. Fleming's indefatigable labours and writings that influential individuals and scientific societies and institutes in Am. and Europe have been won over to the cause'; another subject which he has studied and made his own is that of the Empire-girdling chain of state cables, of which the Pacific cable is the first sec.; in 1879, he submitted to the Can. Govt. a scheme for spanning the Pacific Ocean by electric cable, which, in connection with the overland telegraph would complete the electric girdle of the globe and bring Gt. Brit., Can., Australia, New Zealand, India and South Africa into unbroken telegraph touch of each other without passing over foreign soil; since that date he has continually advocated the establishment of the work, and has written much on the subject; the proceedings of the Colonial Confs., of 1887 and 1894, give his views and arguments at length, and show how much the discussion hinged upon them; this important national work is seemingly in a fair way of becoming an accomplished fact, and if ever its history be written, his name must take a prominent place; has also sought the establishment of "a great Imp. Intelligence union, as a means of promoting the consolidation of the Empire," his scheme being outlined in an address delivered before the Eighty Club, in July, 1906, but undoubtedly one of his most important works to the end indicated has been the erection of a memorial tower, at Halifax, for the purpose of commemorating the origin of representative gov't. there and all the benefits which have accrued therefrom; of this tower, which it is hoped will be constructed before the close of 1911, and to which all portions of the Empire are contributing sculptured slabs to be built in the interior walls, the Rt. Hon. Jas. Bryce, Brit. ambassador at Washington, has said that there has been nothing in the world's history to compare with the object which Sir Sandford Fleming has so patriotically commemorated in this pleasing fashion; is the author of a large number of reports and papers on purely professional subjects; has also written and published; "A Great Territorial Road to B.C." (1863); "The Intercolonial; a Historical Sketch" (1876); "Short Sunday Service for Travellers," a compilation (1877); "Daily Prayers for Busy Households" (1879); "Uniform Standard Time" (1881); "A Cable Across the Pacific" (1882); "The Prime Meridian Question" (1884); "England and Canada; Old to New Westminster" (1884); "Expeditions to the Pacific" (1889); "Parliamentary vs. Party Government" (1891); "An Appeal to the Canadian Institute on the Rectification of Parliament" (1892); again appealed in 1911, when the Can. Institute resolved to inaugurate a league to take up and promote electoral reform in association with the Proportionate Representation Society of the United Kingdom; "The Meteor Flag of the Dominion" (1895); "The Establishment of a great Imperial Intelligence Union as a means of promoting the Consolidation of the Empire" (1906); "A Memorable National Epoch" (1908); and "The Beginning of the Empire" (1910); at the time of the "Trent" affair, raised a co. of the 10th Royals, Toronto, which he continued to command till 1864; now on the retired list; in recognition of his public services, was created by Queen Victoria a Companion of the order of St. Michael and St. George, 1877, and was promoted by her to be a Knight Commander of the same order, on the completion of the 60th year of Her Majesty's reign, 1897; commencing in 1876, was on several occasions presented to the late Queen Victoria, also, during his short reign and previously, to His late Majesty King Edward; more recently, has been presented to the present Sovereign and his Royal Consort; was one of four (and the only one now surviving) who saved Queen Victoria's portrait from destruction at the burning of the Parliament Buildings, Montreal, Apl. 25, 1849; in 1881, represented the Can. Inst. and the Am. Metrological Soc. at the Intern. Geog. Congress held at Venice; in 1882, was presented with the freedom of the Kirkcaldy burghs; in 1884, he represented the Dom. at the Intern. Prime Meridian Conf. at Washington; for his services on this occasion an expression of the high appreciation of Her Majesty's gov't. was communicated to him through the then gov't. of the day; in 1886, he was awarded the confederation med. by the Gov.-Genl. in Council, as an acknowledgment of his eminent services as an engr.; in 1887, he represented Can. (jointly with the late Sir Alex. Campbell) at the Colonial Conf. in London; in 1888, he was elected presdt. of the Royal Soc. of Can. (of which body he was chosen a Fellow on its first organization); in 1892, represented Ottawa at the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire; in 1893, he proceeded on a special mission to Australia and Eng. in reference to the Pacific cable; in 1894, he was one of the representatives of Can. at the Colonial Conf. at Ottawa (a gathering first suggested by him); in the same year he was sent by the Can. Gov't. as a special commr. to Hawaii; in 1896 he attended on behalf of the Dom. the Imp. Pacific Cable Conf. held in London; in 1901, was apptd. a mem. of the Can. Patriotic Fund Assn.; in 1906, was a del. to the 6th Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire; in 1906, was apptd. an hon. Commr. in Can. of the Intern. Expn., Christchurch, New Zealand; in 1907, became a councillor of the Can. Landmarks Assn.; in the same year, was apptd., by the Dom. Gov't., a mem. of the Ottawa Improvement Commn.; in 1909 was apptd., by the Gov. in Council, a mem. of the Royal Conservation Commn.; among other positions filled by him, from time to time, have been those of a dir. of the Hudson's Bay Co. (for 25 yrs.), a dir. C.P. Ry., a councillor of the Victorian Order of Nurses, and a mem. of the literary comte. of the Can. Battlefields Assn.; has been presdt. of the Intern. Cement Co. and of the Western Can. Cement and Coal Co., and was hon. presdt. of the Can. Cement Co. until he resigned in the spring of 1911; is also a Fellow of the Geol. Soc. of the Victoria Inst., the Royal Historical Soc., and of the Royal Geog. Soc., an hon. mem. of the Can. Inst., of the Geog. Soc., Quebec, of the Hamilton Assn., of St. Andrew's Soc., Toronto, of the Royal Geog. Soc. of Australia, and of the Imp. Geog. Soc. of Vienna; was for some yrs. presdt. of the Ottawa branch of the Imp. Fed. League, and is now V.-P. of the United Empire League; politically, belongs to no party, but is an ardent Imperialist; in religious faith, is a Presb.; (see "The Life of a Great Canadian" by C. His companionship is valued by the best people on two continents, with whom he has come in contact, an interchange of ideas with him is sought by the most brilliant intellects, and when his family gather in his Ottawa home to congratulate him on reaching the venerable age of more than fourscore they may well feel that their congratulations are shared by a grateful nation of Canadians, and by thousands of lovers of the Empire the world over to whom his name is familiar."—T. Globe.

"He is the dean of the engineering profession of Canada. On January 7 of this year he completed his 84th year. He built the Intercolonial. He laid out for the Canadian Pacific the route by the Yellowhead Pass for which to-day three transcontinental railways are striving. He was the first man to prove the practicability of the final Canadian Pacific route through the Kicking Horse, Eagle and Rogers passes. He was the pioneer of the twenty-four-hour-day system of time reckoning. He is the father of the Pacific cable. He has been Chancellor of Queen's University for one and thirty years. And he has a few other achievements to his credit. He sits to-day in the study at Winterholme, his Ottawa residence since 1869, a hale, hearty man of 84, white-bearded, kindly, keen as ever. Around him rise great stacks of books, among the serried ranks showing long solid lines of the dark leather bindings that bespeak government reports; reports of official happenings of which he was no unimportant part. Around the grey stone walls of Winterholme are the houses of Sandy Hill, more numerous than when he first made it his abode forty-two years ago, showing a prosperity caused in no small part by the mighty works in which he has borne his share."—*Capt. High Sch., Hawkesbury, Ottawa Normal Sch., Almonte High Sch., and Queen's Univ., Kingston (B.A., Gov.-Genl.'s schol., with honours in Eng. and classics, 1898); post-grad. year and univ. tutor in Eng.; studied theol., same institution (B.D., 1902); D.D. (hon.), Montreal Presb. Coll., 1911; m., July, 1901, Jane Armstrong, y. d. late Richard Fraser, Pembroke, Ont.; spent some yrs. while a student in sch. teaching; also did miscellaneous ministerial work; o. 1902; asst. pastor, Bank St. Ch., Ottawa, 1901-2 (presented with a testimonial on leaving); missionary to Formosa, as successor to famous Rev. Dr. MacKay, with special reference to the educ. work for the training of a native ministry for the Formosan Ch., 1902-4; took up and acquired a knowledge of Amoy Chinese and the Japanese languages; returned to Can., 1904, and since 1905 has been pastor at Portage-la-Prairie, Man.; apptd. chaplain

(with hon. rank of capt.), 99th Regt., Apl. 1, 1910; holds that political corruption is the crying sin of Can., more unblushing and shameful than the majority of those peccadillos against which the pulpit ordinarily casts its thunders; is heartily in sympathy with the present movement towards a stronger nat. feeling in Can.; whatever allowance we make for the strong home ties to which our fathers fondly and rightly clung, we of the younger generations should be Cans., rather than Eng., Irish, Scotch, or French-Cans.; believes that if Brit. and French, Prots. and R. C.'s in Can. would study each other's history and religion, enter into greater sympathy with each other's aims and ideals, and know the good that each other has done, it would go a long way towards breaking down the barriers of national and religious differences which have existed in the past; we have been suspicious of one another because we were ignorant of one another, and ignorance always breeds suspicion; at the same time believes that the liberty necessary for this Can. nationalism is perfectly consistent with even closer Brit. connection than Can. has at present; without Brit. connection Can. would be but the fag of her none too conscientious neighbour to the south; but if we are to have the benefits of Brit. connection we must be prepared to also bear the burdens; if Can. is to be protected by Brit. armies and fleets, she must be prepared to contribute to the maintenance of these armies and fleets; if she is to have Brit. preference she must give preference in return; while Cans. doubtless have reason to complain of such British diplomacy as the Ashburton Treaty of 1842, the Oregon boundary and Alaska boundary settlements of 1846 and 1903, Brit. statesmen can also complain that our attitude to the Mother Country has been a purely selfish one of getting as much as possible and giving as little as possible; to use Rev. Dr. Rose's (q.v.) phrase, our contributions to Imperialism have nearly all been labelled "C. O. D."; in religious matters believes in the fullest unity, co-operation, and brotherhood between Christian bodies; the accentuation of the many things in which we agree rather than the few in which we differ; is a contributor to the mags.; author "Formosa under the Japanese" (1907).—Portage la Prairie, Man.; Canadian Club, do.

Gaudaur, Jacob Gill, champion oarsman.

French-Canadian descent; s. Francols and Jessie (Gill) G., Orillia, Ont.; b. at the Narrows, Lake Couchiching, Ont., Apl. 4, 1858; from his earliest yrs. had a strong fancy for aquatic sports; his first year in a shell was in 1879, when he rowed at Prescott, London and Sarnia in exhn. races; his first shell race was with McKen, on Toronto Bay, in the same year, which he won easily; rowed 3rd at Barrie, Hanlan and Riley dead-heating; in 1881, July 1, at Ottawa, won a race from Ross, Hosmer, Ten Eyck and Riley; at Pullman, Ill., June 23 1883, was beaten by Teemer in the consolation race in 20.14; at Lake Minnetonka, on Aug. 4, he finished behind Hanlan, Lee, Hosmer, and Hamm; in 1884, at Boston, July 4, won the 3-mile single sculls in 21.50 and the working boat event in 22.20; on Oct. 26, rowed a dead heat with Teemer; on Nov. 2, won in 20.24 at Creve Cœur Lake, Mo.; the ups and downs of the Can. sculler continued in 1885; won the 3-mile single sculls race at Boston, July 4, in 20.30, and on the same day, with Hosmer as partner, captured the double sculls; on May 25 rowed second to Teemer at New Orleans in 20.01, and won the double with Hosmer; on June 13 defeated Hosmer at a regatta at Moline, Ill., and on the 18th defeated Teemer at Pittsburg, where Hosmer again sat with him in the winning double sculls boat; his first championship race in the doubles with Hosmer for partner was disastrous; Courtney and Conley beat them over a 3-mile course at Pleasure Island, near Albany, N.Y., for $5,000 and the title, in 17.57; on Oct. 30, the same year, G. beat Al Hamm (5 secs.) for $1,000, 3 miles with turn, in 21.15; perhaps 1886 was the most important year of his life; on June 12, won the championship of Am. and $2,000 over a 3-mile course with turn from Teemer, at Pullman, Ill., in 21.20; again on June 26, made the best 3-mile record up to that time, 19.54, at White Bear Lake, Minn., beating Teemer and Hamm; on Sept. 18 occurred the famous race with Wm. Beach. of Australia, for the world's championship and $5,000 on the Thames, London, Eng.; G. was beaten over a 4½-mile course in 22.29 by a short half-boat length. Rowing men who saw the contest said it was the greatest that had ever taken place in the history of the sport; on May 30, 1887, won $5,000 and defended the championship from Hanlan in 19.32, making a new record; in July, at Pullman, Hanlan won the title, finishing outside the flags in the darkness; Teemer beat Hanlan on Aug. 13, and G. was unsuccessful in his effort to win the title from the McKeesporter on Oct. 28, at Lake Maranacook, Me.; Teemer's time was 20.28 2-5 for the 3 miles with a turn; from this time G.'s engagements became very numerous, and only his important races are given from 1888 to 1896; in 1888, Aug. 3, he and McKay, of Halifax, defeated Teemer and Hamm for the double-sculling championship and $5,000, 3 miles with turn, in 19.25, at Saratoga Lake; later on in the same year the late Wm. O'Connor beat G. at Sturgeon Point, Ont., in a regatta; this was O'Connor's first brush with him; on March 3, 1889, Wm. O'Connor defeated G. on San Francisco Bay in a 3-mile race, in 19.45; on Sept. 13 the latter beat Teemer at McKeesport, but the stakes were afterwards drawn, the American claiming a foul and refusing to row; in 1890, at the Duluth regatta, July 21-26, G. made his third record, 19.31, in winning the single scull race against Teemer, Hanlan, Hosmer and others; McKay and he won the doubles, and his crew also captured the 4-oared race at the same regatta; in 1891 Hanlan and O'Connor defeated G. and McKay for the double scull world's championship at Burlington Beach, on Aug. 8, 3 miles with turn, in 18.26; in 1892, Chas. Stephenson, the New Zealand champion, was beaten easily on Aug. 13 by G. at Orillia, over the regular 3-mile course, from the wharf to Lehman's Point and return; on Sept. 5 he and G. H. Hosmer won the double sculling championship from Hanlan and O'Connor at Charlotte, N.Y.; again, at Orillia, Oct. 15, the same result took place, the 3 miles being covered by the winners in 18.30; rowed at Austin, Texas, June, 1893; won the 3-mile with turn single scull event in 19.06, his fourth record, defeating Peterson, Stanbury, the world's champion, Hanlan, Teemer, Rogers and Ten Eyck; Hosmer and he won the doubles by 20 lengths in 18.03, the fastest time yet recorded for the 3 miles with turn; in Nov., 1895, G. competed at the intern. regatta in Austin, Texas; his first appearance was with his bro. in the double scull race at 3 miles; the Gs. were beaten by Teemer and Haines; the time was 18.21, which equalled the world's record for the distance; on Nov. 5, Teemer beat G. in a half-mile dash; on Nov. 7, G. won the championship of the world, the Richard K. Fox trophy and $1,500, beating Rogers, Bubear and Haines; the same day, together with his bro. and Teemer and Rogers, G. competed in a 4-oared race with Bubear, Barry, Haines and Wingate; the Eng. crew won the race, which was a 3-mile one, in 17.20, a world's record for the distance; G. also won several minor events; in 1896, competed at the intern. regatta at Halifax; likewise appeared with the Can.-Am. 4-oar crew, which succeeded in defeating Bubear's Eng. crew; his last great victory occurred Sept. 7, 1896, when he won the single scull race for the championship of the world on the Thames from Jas. H. Stanbury, the course being from Putney to Mortlake, 4 miles; G.'s time was 23.01, and Stanbury's, 23.46; in Dec., the same year, he issued a challenge offering to row any man in the world, in Am., in June, 1897, for the championship and a stake of $2,500 or $5,000 a side, and in Jan., 1897, he was challenged by Hanlan to row for the world's championship and $1,000 a side, either in Am. or Eng. waters; G. weighs about 175 pounds, and is 6 ft. high.—Orillia, Ont.

Century*, June, 1910; presented with a solid silver ink-stand by the curlers of the Can. branch, Royal Caledonian Curling Club, as a farewell token of their esteem and gratitude, Oct., 1911.—Howick House, Lesbury, Northumberland, Eng.; Brooks' Club, London).

"His influence is felt everywhere."—Sir Sanford Fleming (q.v.).

"A statesman and a philanthropist in the best sense."—Lord Stratheona (q.v.).

"A man of insight, inspiration and political genius."—E. W. Thomson (q.v.).

"A man of sterling Christian character, a leader among men and one of whom Canada may well be proud."—Bishop Worrell (q.v.).

"A man of high ability, great capacity for work and a willingness to spend his strength in behalf of every good public object."—M. Gazette.

"He combines, as few people do, much business-like ability and an enthusiasm which carries everything before it."—Marquis of Lansdowne.

"No one had ever taken more pains to make himself acquainted with this country and probably not half a dozen men could be found in the Dominion who knew Canada as thoroughly."—Sir Richard Cartwright (q.v.).

"In his person, in his ideas, in his restless energy, he recalls the type of the great adventurers who sailed the Spanish main. There is about him the very aroma of the knighthood of the 16th century, whose fragrance lingers long in the corridors of time."—W. T. Stead.

"He brought to the post unusual gifts, a high sense of duty and a broad grasp of the Imperial problem in all its phases. From the outset he has recognized that Canada wishes to be regarded as an auxiliary kingdom, rather than as a mere dependency of the Mother Country. He has taken a lively and helpful interest in a number of important national movements, his tact has been unflinching, and when he comes to quit Rideau Hall he will leave behind him in this country a host of friends, and he will bear back with him to the Sovereign whom he represents the salutations of a loyal Dominion."—T. News.

"But it is as a student of Canada's resources and a prophet of her mighty destiny that Earl Grey occupies a place all his own. Few native-born Canadians have seen so much of the Dominion in a lifetime as the Governor-General has during the past six years. He has the instinct of the pioneer of large vision. The old days when Rhodesia was his care in the formative period bent his thoughts toward empire-building. The edge of civilization fascinates him. He is quite manifestly more in his element exploring the shores of Hudson Bay than in the circumscribed round of social duties attaching to his office, although his social qualities place him alongside the witty Dufferin."—T. Globe.

"It would be difficult to speak too highly of His Excellency's work in this country. His sympathies are broad, his insight keen, his energies unflinching, and he has such a love for Canada and her people as to open all hearts. Lord Grey has always stood for Canadian homogeneity and a broad-based imperialism, and he will leave a benign influence on many phases of Canadian life, both useful and ornamental. He has interested himself in the details of forestry, of mining, the fisheries, agriculture, manufacturing, art, music, language, education, the fight against tuberculosis, and a hundred other activities, and he has entered into them all with a zest that has been of itself refreshing, and has given that continued impetus which makes causes successful."—M. Witness.

"During his term in Canada Earl Grey had spared no effort to bring the French and English races more closely together. He had endeavoured to promote the use of the French language by the English majority. He had promoted the formation of clubs where people of the two races could meet. He had endeavoured to make more widely known the records of French-Canadian heroes and by all these works he would be most kindly remembered by the French in Canada. His experience in the beautification and embellishment of cities had been given freely to Canada. As an instance of this, he would say that while in Montreal Earl Grey had conferred with the civic authorities as to plans for the beautification of that city and improving the conditions as to parks and dwellings for the poorer people."—Senator Dandurand (q.v.).

I 'member wan tam I be sleepin', jus' onder some beeg pine tree,
An' song of de robin wak' me, but robin he don't see me.

Dere's no'ting for scarin' dat bird dere, He's feel all alone on de worl', Wall! Ma-dam she mus' lissen lak dat too, when she was de Chambly girl!

'Cos how could she sing dat nice chanson, de sam' as de bird I was hear,
Till I see it de maple an' pine tree an' Richelieu rommin' near.

Again I'm de leetle feller, lak young colt upon de spring
Dat's jus' on de way I was feel, me, w'en Ma-dam All-ba-nee is sing!

An' after de song it is finish, an' crowd is mak' noise wit' its han'

I s'pose dey be t'inkin' I'm crazy, dat mebbe I don't onderstan',

'Cos I'm set on de chair very quiet, mese'f an' poor Jeremie,

An' I see dat hees eye it was cry too, jus' sam' way it go wit' me.

"In the first place I desire to convey my cordial felicitations to Miss Louisa Hart, who has come to India from the Far West to undertake the noble task of upraising the sick, the suffering and the sinful of this land. On behalf of the Government, and in the name of all in this country, whether Anglo-Saxons or Indians, I ask her acceptance of our cordial greetings and best thanks. I have visited Vellore and witnessed the admirable work on which she is engaged. Miss Hart is there carrying on a labour of love, and by the devotion of scientific skill and ceaseless personal effort is bringing help and comfort and hope to the suffering and the poor. It has often been my pleasure to speak of the splendid work done in this country by Christian missions, and I know of no more conspicuous example than that of the American Mission in Vellore. It has earned the gratitude and the admiration of all of us who have eyes to see and hearts to feel, and I know that I am only expressing the opinion of all present when I say that we congratulate Miss Hart most sincerely on this recognition of her noble work, and hope that she may long live to wear the Kaiser-i-Hind medal with which she has just been presented."—*H.
